Narromine Transplants is one of Australia's largest seedling producers with a product range that includes vegetables, saltbush, tea tree and trees for plantation. Plants from the nursery are delivered to customers in metal bins, painted with Insultec paint, at all times of the year but mainly during the summer months when temperature soar to well over 40°C.

Insultec paint reduces the internal temperature of the bins to about 10°C less than ambient and results in our product being delivered in good condition.

For Narromine Transplants, Insultec paint has proven to be a low cost way of preventing reduction in plant quality during transit.
